

Taxes For The Expat

Live and Invest In Europe 2023

Kathleen Peddicord with Lief Simon, João Gil Figueira, and Jonathan Hadida

Broad Strokes

- Most countries tax based on residency... and most tax residents on worldwide income
- Some countries tax jurisdictionally... meaning you'll be taxed only if you earn income in the country
- Retirement income—social security, pensions, IRA withdrawals—is typically not taxed or falls under double taxation treaties

Local Taxes

- Income Tax
- Capital Gains Tax
- Property Tax
- Import Duties
- Wealth Tax
- Sales Tax

Local Taxes

U.S. Persons Abroad

- Taxed on Worldwide Income
- Mitigating Factors
 - Foreign Earned Income Exclusion
 - Foreign Housing Exclusion
 - Foreign Tax Credit

Foreign Earned Income Exclusion

Excludes from your U.S. taxes an amount up to $120,000 per person for 2023 (indexed each year)

You qualify through one of two IRS tests:

- Bona Fide Residency Test
- Physical Presence Test (330 days)

Foreign Housing Exclusion

- An additional exclusion if you rent your residence abroad but only reduces foreign earned income
- Maximum amount is 16% of FEIE
- Base amount deducted from actual expenses based on local housing index

Foreign Tax Credit

- Applies to any taxes paid to another country even if you are not living outside the U.S.
- Intended to eliminate double taxation even if taxes are paid to a country without a taxation treaty with the U.S.

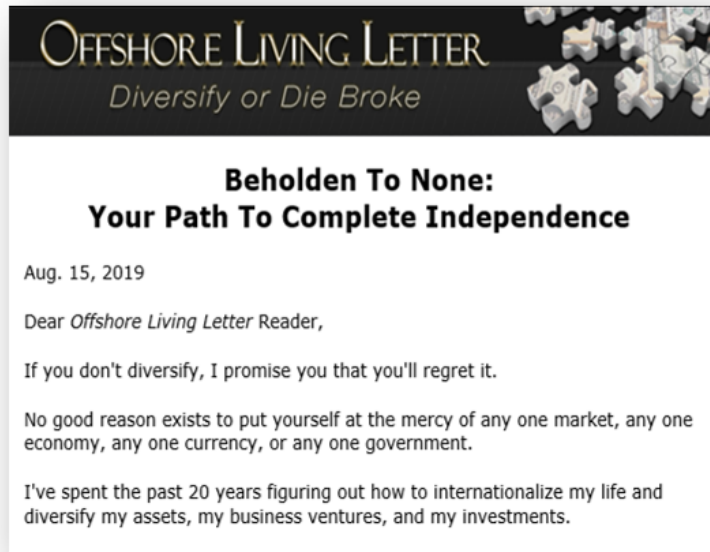

Reporting Offshore Financial Accounts

- If you have foreign bank accounts, check the box on Schedule B for Form 1040
- If you have foreign bank accounts with an aggregate balance of US$10,000 or more, you must fill out the FBAR also known as FinCEN Form 114
- Must file online – New deadline April 15
- Penalties are disproportionate for not filing... so file

Reporting Offshore Financial Assets

- If you have foreign financial assets you may have to file for 8938
- The thresholds for U.S residents are US$50,000 on the last day of the tax year or US$75,000 at any time during the tax year (double for a married couple)
- The thresholds for U.S persons living outside the U.S. are US$200,000 on the last day of the tax year or more than US$300,000 at any time during the year (double for a married couple)
